

The top banner features the 'BallerHOUSE' logo on the left, with 'Baller' in a white, rounded, cursive font and 'HOUSE' in a bold, yellow, sans-serif font. A small 'SM' trademark symbol is positioned to the right of 'HOUSE'. The background is a composite image: the left side shows a stylized yellow palm tree and a sun-like symbol on a dark background, while the right side shows a photograph of a modern, multi-story white building with a central courtyard and pool area. The entire banner is framed by a dark grey border.

BallerHOUSESM

The Relief Chair

March 8th, 2009 by BallerHouse

As the economy keeps heading into the toilet, I think we are all ready for a little relief. Design firm Mikus Projects' Relief Chair won't be any relief for your bank account, but the fresh design and comfortable stacked felt surface are sure to bring a little more comfort to your crib.

According to the designer, "the body of the chair is a layered assembly of medium-density wool felt sheets, adhered to each other and sleeved over an internal steel frame. The felt body and frame rest on break-formed stainless steel legs, with a satin finish. The composition juxtaposes weight and weightlessness with an intrepid stance. The scraps of felt generated during fabrication are reused in other Mickus Projects pieces, such as the Refill Pillow."

The chair is now on display in the Cooper-Hewitt National Design Museum, as part of the "Fashioning Felt" exhibition. But if you've got the spare cash, it's for sale through the designer with the price available upon request.

via [Core77]

These icons link to social bookmarking sites where readers can share and discover new web pages.